Statement

I reject the term of art. Ever since that son of a bitch Duchamp put the urinal in the museum, the term has been dead. It no longer has any qualitative meaning if everything can be art and everyone an artist. I am no artist but an alchemist. I use the five elements to transform, conjure or banish objects and subjects. There is a strong focus on the process of expansion into both the inner psychological space and the outer (cyber) space. My practice contains, but is not limited to meditation, psychoanalysis, constellating latent patterns, infiltrating cults, seeking (cyber-) synchronicities and targeted madness.
